

Australasian
Association of Writing Programs

TEXT

Journal of writing and writing courses

ISSN: 1327-9556 | <https://www.textjournal.com.au/>

TEXT poetry

Lauren Rae

Hemispheric March

After Roger W. Sperry

I mentally prepare my left brain / right work brain
of piece

L) which has me frameworked, methodically interfered with surrendering my pre-dawn sleep with devilish regularity

R) which has me casting semantic shadows, dissolving detail, waving thoughts to vividness like the striking of a blush brush

L) which has me sequence feedback on work yet unwritten creating and dismantling rules to document the chaos

R) which has me drum-beating my arse into the mattress engrossed by pseudo-faces in the ring of textured cushions

I
mentally
brain prepare / left brain piece of work right my

Lauren Rae is a writer, poet and hospital pharmacist based in Brisbane. By day, she writes for a state-wide medicines advisory committee. By night, creative writing and poetry afford her an escape from medical procedures and protocols. @_laurenrae_